Billerica, Massachusetts April 5, 2011 – American Ink Jet Corporation (AIJC), a leading developer and manufacturer of ink jet inks, announces the addition of Nicolas Sack as their new Sales Representative serving Argentina, Chile, Colombia, Peru, and Venezuela.

Since 2002 Nicolas has been working as Managing Partner for PuntoJet, AIJC's exclusive distributor in Argentina. In his expanded role, Nicolas will also be responsible for developing new business and expanding AIJC's existing business in Argentina, Chile, Colombia, Peru and Venezuela. "We are very happy to have Nicolas on board in his new role" states James Andreottola, Director of Sales & Marketing. "Nicolas has a commitment to excellence and a passion for ink which makes him ideal to represent American Ink Jet. He will be a great asset to our current and future customers in these markets," adds Andreottola.

Nicolas will be handling AIJC's Desktop and Wide Format product lines which include desktop inks for cartridges remanufacturers and continuous ink systems as well as water-based and eco-solvent inks for the large format digital imaging market.

Founded in 1983, American Ink Jet Corporation is one of the leading quality developers and manufacturers of ink jet inks. The company maintains a multidisciplinary research and development staff that applies C3 Calibrated Color Chemistry™ technology to formulate inks with chromatic color, precision and purity. Utilizing dyes or pigments, AIJ manufacturers both standard and archival inks and works with printer manufacturers, print head developers (continuous, piezo & thermal) and media coaters to develop optimum solutions using water based ink jet inks. The commitment to purification and ultra-filtration with inkjet inks has earned the company a reputation for providing the most reliable, consistent inks.
